Look around you. There is not a community in the county but what there are a lot of people living who do not take his paper. A neighbor on some side of you does not take it-go to him and persuade him to join the ranks. Our list could mighty easily be doubled if each one of our subecribers would get just one new subscriber. This is not much of a task to ask you to perform. Why, S. H. Brown, Elisha Giletrap and 20 new ones, and neither one has bring, or send, in two new subscribers by the 1st of February, 1908 interest in the paper.

Several States and Territories.

In the House of Representatives Dec. 3, 1907, Mr. Aiken introduced the following bill, which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary and ordered to be printed:

A BILL to limit the effect of the regulation of commerce between the several States and Territories, as to certain commodities.

Be it enacted by the Senate' and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress arembled:

Section 1. That all intexicating liquors, including ale, wine and beer, shipped from one state or territory into another state or territory shall, immediately after crossing the boundary line of the state or territory in which its destination is located, and before delivery to the consignee, become subject, in every respect, to the laws of such state or territory which have been enacted therein in the exercise of police powers, just as though said liquors had been produced in said state or territory; and the interstate commerce character of such shipments of intoxicating liquors shall terminate immediately after such liquors have passed into said state or territory of their destination; and no exemption shall be made of original packages of intoxicating liquors shipped in any form or manner: PROVIDED, That liquors shipped entirely across a state or territory, that are not to be delivered therein, shall not be subject to the provisions of this act, nor shall this act affect the right of common carriers to trans port intoxicating liquors from points without a state or territory to any point within that state or territory.

SEC. 2. That any railroad com pany, express company, or other common carrier, or other person who shull, in connection with the transportation of spiritous, vinous, mel and intoxicating liquors of all binds other person, the purchase price, or any part thereof of such liquors, or who shall in any manner act as the agent of the consignor or seller of such liquors for the purpose of selling or completing the sale thereof, saving only in the actual transportation and delivery of the same, shall be subject in so doing to all the police powers of the state or territory into which such liquors are transported and delivered; and for this purpose in all cases of the sale of spiritous, vinous, malt and intoxicating liquors of all kinds, in inter state commerce, where the same is sold "collect on delivery" the place of delivery shall be deemed and held the place of sale.

Occupations of An Ex-President.

But it is not the restraints to which he is subjected as a mere de. pository of the people's dignity which remind him most directly that his retirement means something very different from an absolute rest and freedom from the people's service.

He is deluged with newly-written books - most of them indifferent or positively worthless-and these he is expected to read and commend for advertising purposes. He is made a target for all manner of pecuniary solicitation, embracing all sorts of objects, ranging from large endowment funds and disinterested offers of fabulously profitable investment to pathetic and depressing appeals for the relief of individual distress.

He is almost daily importuned to S. ### A Lake of Burning Ice.

"Cold? Then we'll set fire to some ce and warm ourselves."

The speaker made, with the heel of his skate, a hole in the ice. He applied a match to the hole. The ice biazed up instantly with a hot, bright

"Oh, how good it feels," said the young girl. She removed her gloves to warm her slim hands the better. "But isn't it rather odd," she said, 'to warm one's hands at a fire of

"Y u are a stranger to Atchison," said the young Kinsan, "or you wouldn't find it odd. We are used to it here. Always, when we skate on Lake Doniphan, we set the ice stire if we are cold."

She watched her own little fire. ... "What is the explanation of this miracle?" she said, ...

"A very simple one," said the young. man. "This lake is full of natural gases. When it freezes over, gas, in the form of bubbles impregnates the ice. You have only to burst open a babble and put a match to it, and up shoots a magical flame."

"Wonderful!" said the young girl. What a fine thing it would be if the ice of all skating ponds could be impregnated in this way with gas, Then skaters would never need be cold."-[Phila. Bulletin.

Why Our Seaboard Is Safe,

Our Atlantic seaboard just now is amply protected by our commerce and by the millions of fighting men on the farms and in the bives of industry. There is not a nation in Enrope crazy enough or suicidal enough to lift a finger to molest us. There is not on that would not lose forty times a much as it could dare to hope to gai
